

Laboratoire National de Santé
Position available

The National Health Laboratory is seeking for a

Clinical microbiologist, MD, (bacteriology, mycology, parasitology, virology) with emphasis on significant current experience in serology, virology and molecular methods.

The candidate should have a good command of English, French and German (written and spoken).

Additional experience in

- Genotyping*
 - Lab software management*
 - Lab accreditation*
 - Hospital infection management and*
 - Scientific publishing*
- is highly welcomed.*

-The division is actually the national reference centre for certain infectious diseases (for instance Influenza virus).

-The position implies the representation of the National Health Laboratory and the Grand-Duchy of Luxembourg at international surveillance networks (for instance ECDC).

-Possibility to run research projects with a team of experienced and motivated colleagues.

-High end equipment available (L3-lab facility)

-Historical strain collections

Interested individuals should submit their curriculum vitae and their graduate transcripts to the Director: Directeur du Laboratoire National de Santé, 42, rue du Laboratoire, L-1911 Luxembourg, Luxembourg or by email to direction@lns.etat.lu.